EVIT to hold Mystery Chef Dinner

The East Valley Institute of Technology's culinary department will host its annual "Mystery Chef Dinner" on Thursday, March 11.

Twelve talented chefs from around the Valley will be on hand to serve up concoctions based around this year's theme: cheese. Those who attend will not know which chefs are participating or whose table they are sitting at until the dinner begins. Chefs who have participated in past Mystery Chef Dinners include Mark Tarbell of Tarbell's, Beau MacMillan of Elements, and Richard Dupere of The Ritz-Carlton, Phoenix.

Tickets are $65; all proceeds go toward culinary student scholarships. Guests also will be invited to participate in a silent auction before dinner to bid on items ranging from golf packages and hotel stays to sports tickets and memorabilia.

The dinner will be held in the culinary department's banquet room on the EVIT campus. Hors d'oeuvres will be served during the silent auction, which begins at 6 p.m. Dinner begins at 7 p.m. To make a reservation, call Tricia Guerrero at (480)-461-4139.

The East Valley Institute of Technology is Arizona's first joint technological education district. EVIT provides about 40 occupation-specific programs for high school students at ten school districts across the East Valley. The programs are tuition-free for high school students; classes also are open to adult students at competitive tuition rates.

EVIT, which has been honored as an A+ school in Arizona, is located at 1601 West Main Street in Mesa. For more information about programs offered, please call (480) 461-4000 or visit www.evit.com.
